Ruth on the Fields of Boaz
by Julius Schnorr von Carolsfeld

This Lenten Scripture study will explore the voices and roles of faithful, courageous, and prophetic women throughout the Bible. We will reflect on how their spirit continues to live on in the voices and experiences of women today.

Each session will include stories, prayer, reflection, and sharing. Bring your Bible.

Join us in the Family Center immediately following the 12:05 Mass.
Feel free to bring a brown bag lunch.

To register, please contact Ann Hapka at 610.388.1362 or ann.d.hapka@gmail.com.

Although walk-ins are welcome, we appreciate advance registration by Wednesday, March 8, to ensure we have enough handouts for all.

Both MEN and WOMEN, parishioners and non-parishioners are welcome to attend all events at St. Joseph on the Brandywine.

About Mary Louise Chesley-Cora

Mary Louise Chesley-Cora savors time reflecting on our ancestors of faith and sharing that journey with others on the way. She has gleaned her own opportunities for learning and leadership from Jewish studies, visits to the Holy Land, and many models of faith—ones living and others who are part of the “cloud of witnesses.” She has an MAT in religious studies and certificates from the Bat Kol Institute in Jerusalem and LaSalle/Gratz College for Jewish Studies. Mary Louise is involved in liturgical music and offers adult faith formation programs in scripture and book studies at Resurrection Parish.
